Panel Would Put Out $11 Million More Than State Due To Receive

COLUMBUS (A)-The Ohio Senate today was asked to appropriate $11 million more to run the state for the next two years than the state expects to receive in tax-

The Senate Finance Committee recommended passage of a bill setting the spending level for the next two years at $948,737,-

The first $11/2 million above the funds available is the responsibility of the Senate committee.

The next $91/2 million is the responsibility of Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Faced with a financial crisis, he recommended the Legislature use $91/2 million of treasury surplus to balance the 1956-57 state budget.

The big Senate increase over the House - approved $9431/2 million budget was an item for $13 million to finance a proposed new subsidy formula for Ohio's public schools. This was something of a surprise. Some legislative sources believe the Senate-approved school subsidy formula will not become law during this session.

IF THE NEW subsidy gets House approval, and if an agreement with the Senate is reached, cost upwards of $52 million during a full biennium, its cost during the Jan. 1-June 30, 1957, period would be about $13 million, the amount allowed by the Senate

To arouse more public interest and stop the nation-wide complacency regarding civilian defense, has been proving a problem still unsolved.

Even here in this city and throughout Fayette County, with the notable exception of a few individuals, it has been difficult to awaken people to the need for earnest appraisal of what steps they should take in the matter of protection here at home.

It has been difficult to build up a competent ground observation organization in this community in spite of many efforts. Other rural, and many city areas, have experienced the same attitude.

It has been too easy to believe that "nothing can happen to us" and that our air force and navy will stop any attacks before they could reach us. We all hope that is true, but that is only one side of the story of danger.

Just recently the Committee on Armed Services of the U.S. Senate submitted a report on civil defense which should, but perhaps will not, shatter the apathy which has surrounded that topic, in the Federal Government, Congress itself, and at the state and local levels.

Coming as it does, when top aviation experts and defense officials are saying both that the Russians have or have not a large number of planes capable of delivering a hydrogen bomb on any American city, the report has added signifi-

The committee made a number of points among which were:

The nation is "unprepared to deal with a successful H-bomb attack . . . Millions of lives probably could be lost due to inability to evacuate cities . . . "

The United States is increasingly vulnerable to H-bomb attacks due to development by Russia "of heavy jet bombers which are aimed in the direction of the United States."

Evacuation of target areas is the only alternative in case of attack and there are "no adequate evacuation plans for such

To the conscientious father it is frightening, indeed. And, to the conscientious mother, equally frightening is her child's trust in her.

It takes something more than love and good intentions to live up to the expectations of our children. We need a strength and wisdom and tenderness that do not come automatically with the responsibility of parenthood.

God provides, and the Church instills in our lives, the spiritual gifts which our parenthood requires. We were meant to cultivate these qualities, for with every challenge God offers us adequate resources.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Operation Alert Cited As Proof For Vast Military Strength

EMERGENCY WHITE HOUSE President Eisenhower today closed the government's three-day make-believe dealing with atomic holocaust by asking the American people to pray daily that such a disaster "never comes to the United States" in actuality.

In a brief speech at the secret central command post of the exercise, the President declared that Operation Alert 1955 underscored the imperative need for approval of his proposal to strengthen the U. S. military reserves.

Eisenhower said no "social or political" considerations should be ation to W. J. Ross, lot 15 Belle allowed to block prompt passage Aire Addition No. 3. of the legislation.

"It must be done for the security of the United States and its 165 million people," he declared.

This theoretically bomb-blasted nation found its farm and industry potential sufficiently intact to avert collapse and support a war effort despite mock casualties numbering 14 million,

That was the assessment of government officials at the start of this third and final day of "Operation Alert 1955," designed to test the nation's civil defense preparedness and its ability to shake off the devastation supposedly wreaked in Wednesday's sham nuclear assault.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA) reported that 41/4 million persons were "saved" from death or injury by simulated evacuations in 24 of the 61 cities subject to the make-believe at-

But 24 millions were calculated to be homeless refugees. These persons, FCDA Administrator Val C. Peterson said, would be "the most pressing problem" of the home front if the synthetic war were real.

The casualty count, still incomplete and coming in slowly, supposed 8,200,000 were dead and 6,-550,000 injured in the continental United States, not counting the toll In territorial cities.

SOME SIX million workers were presumed to be among those casualties in the 55 cities.

However, civil defense officials calculated that only a "surprisingtry's manufacturing capacity was theoretically blasted.

Another 10 per cent of the warsupporting industrial plant suffered "heavy to light" damage.

Officials were elated at the relatively light cost of the exercise in terms of industrial potential, but ascribed it to the fact that the supposed attacks were aimed at the centers of civilian population.

But the command of "Operation Alert" pointed out that the vital steel-fabricating and machinery industries were "hard hit," with damage in some segments exceeding 40 per cent.

"Disruption to production schedules would have been far more serious than indicated by capacity losses," a statement added, "due to loss of essential suppliers and interruption of electrical pow er, transportation and other serv-

Meantime President Eisenhower and 15,000 evacuated government workers, operating in 31 posts away from Washington, poured out dummy decrees designed to pump money, manpower, food and medicine into the supposedly wounded civilian economy

By now, with the exercise at a point representing the 20th to 30th days of the real thing, the economy was operating under an Eisenhower proclamation of "martial law" and a tightening web of simulated federal controls.

Panel Would Put Out $11 Million More Than State Due To Receive

COLUMBUS (A)-The Ohio Senate today was asked to appropriate $11 million more to run the state for the next two years than the state expects to receive in tax-

The Senate Finance Committee recommended passage of a bill setting the spending level for the next two years at $948,737,-

The first $11/2 million above the funds available is the responsibility of the Senate committee.

The next $91/2 million is the responsibility of Gov. Frank J. Lausche. Faced with a financial crisis, he recommended the Legislature use $91/2 million of treasury surplus to balance the 1956-57 state budget.

The big Senate increase over the House - approved $9431/2 million budget was an item for $13 million to finance a proposed new subsidy formula for Ohio's public schools. This was something of a surprise. Some legislative sources believe the Senate-approved school subsidy formula will not become law during this session.

IF THE NEW subsidy gets House approval, and if an agreement with the Senate is reached. it probably will not become effective until Jan. 1, 1957. Estimated to cost upwards of $52 million during a full biennium, its cost during would be about $13 million, the amount allowed by the Senate

COLUMBUS P-The Ohio Turnpike Commission says it made arrangements in November 1953, to provide for a connecting road with J. S. 20 on the Ohio side of the Ohio-Indiana border.

Commission Chairman James W. Shocknessy commented on a staetment by the director t the Indiana Toll Road Commission who implied that Ohio had not advised Indiana on the disposition of turnpike traffic.

"As long ago as November 1953." said Shocknessy, "arrange ments were completed and construction provided for a connecting road with U.S. 20 on the Ohio side of the Ohio-Indiana border, so there was no reason to discuss the matter with Indiana."

Civilian Defense Still Lagging Over Nation

To arouse more public interest and stop the nation-wide complacency regarding civilian defense, has been proving a problem still unsolved.

Even here in this city and throughout Favette County, with the notable exception of a few individuals, it has been difficult to awaken people to the need for earnest appraisal of what steps they should take in the matter of protection here at home.

It has been difficult to build up a competent ground observation organization in this community in spite of many efforts. Other rural, and many city areas, have experienced the same attitude.

It has been too easy to believe that "nothing can happen to us" and that our air force and navy will stop any attacks before they could reach us. We all hope that is true, but that is only one side of the story of danger.

Just recently the Committee on Armed Services of the U.S. Senate submitted a report on civil defense which should, but perhaps will not, shatter the apathy which has surrounded that topic, in the Federal Government, Congress itself, and at the state and local levels.

Coming as it does, when top aviation experts and defense officials are saving both that the Russians have or have not a large number of planes capable of delivering a hydrogen bomb on any American city, the report has added signifi-

The committee made a number of points among which were:

The nation is "unprepared to deal with a successful H-bomb attack . . . Millions of lives probably could be lost due to inability to evacuate cities . . . "

The United States is increasingly vulnerable to H-bomb attacks due to development by Russia "of heavy jet bombers which are aimed in the direction of the United States."

Evacuation of target areas is the only alternative in case of attack and there are "no adequate evacuation plans for such

The roads and highways from our large cities are not adequate for civil defense

The eyebrows went ever higher when, in the middle of her act, Miss Piazza changed her costumes right on the floor, behind the provocative barrier of

For 11 months, investigators of the Eastland Committee have been reading the hundreds of volumes of the Morgenthau diaries and have brought together certain material concerning Harry Dexter White, which does stir the historic mind to a note on the queer operations of the

New Deal

Morgenthau did not know White when he came into the Treasury in the summer of 1934. There is no testimony explaining White's employment which may have been routine. However, on April 23, 1935, there is a telephone conversation between Morgenthau and Under Secretary William Phillips of the State Department which gives the im pression that White, who was at the Hague on a Treasury mission, was getting into the hair of the diplomats and they needed a rectification of his status. By April 25, 1938, Harry Dexter White had become a big shot in the Treasury and was included in the 9:30 ground, "which represented the top personnel of the Treasury who met with Morgenthau every morning to discuss the day's work. Morgen-

The tall, husky plants are somewhat more resistant to drought and disease than are the non-hybrid varieties.

Operation Alert Cited As Proof For Vast Military Strength

EMERGENCY WHITE HOUSE President Eisenhower today closed the government's three-day make-believe dealing with atomic holocaust by asking the American people to pray daily that such a disaster "never comes to the United States" in actuality.

In a brief speech at the secret central command post of the exercise, the President declared that Operation Alert 1955 underscored the imperative need for approval of his proposal to strengthen the U. S. military reserves.

Eisenhower said no "social or allowed to block prompt passage Aire Addition No. 3. of the legislation.

"It must be done for the security of the United States and its 165 million people," he declared.

This theoretically bomb-blasted nation found its farm and industry potential sufficiently intact to avert collapse and support a war effort despite mock casualties numbering 14 million.

That was the assessment of government officials at the start of this third and final day of "Operation Alert 1955," designed to test the nation's civil defense preparedness and its ability to shake off the devastation supposedly wreaked in Wednesday's sham nuclear assault.

The Federal Civil Defense Administration (FCDA) reported that 41/4 million persons were "saved" from death or injury by simulated evacuations in 24 of the 61 cities subject to the make-believe at-

But 24 millions were calculated to be homeless refugees. These persons, FCDA Administrator Val C. Peterson said, would be "the most pressing problem" of the home front if the synthetic war

The casualty count, still incomplete and coming in slowly, supposed 8,200,000 were dead and 6,-550,000 injured in the continental United States, not counting the toll in territorial cities.

SOME SIX million workers were presumed to be among those casualties in the 55 cities.

However, civil defense officials calculated that only a "surprising ly low" 6 per cent of the country's manufacturing capacity was theoretically blasted.

Another 10 per cent of the warsupporting industrial plant suffered "heavy to light" damage.

Officials were elated at the relatively light cost of the exercise in terms of industrial potential, but ascribed it to the fact that the supposed attacks were aimed at the centers of civilian population.

But the command of "Operation Alert" pointed out that the vital steel-fabricating and machinery industries were "hard hit," with damage in some segments exceeding 40 per cent.

"Disruption to production schedules would have been far more serious than indicated by capacity losses," a statement added, "due to loss of essential suppliers and interruption of electrical pow er, transportation and other serv-

Meantime President Eisenhower and 15,000 evacuated government workers, operating in 31 posts away from Washington, poured out dummy decrees designed to pump money, manpower, food and medicine into the supposedly wounded civilian economy

By now, with the exercise at a point representing the 20th to 30th days of the real thing, the economy was operating under an Eisenhower proclamation of "martial law" and a tightening web of simulated federal controls.
